Assessment Self-Reflection and Corrections

Look over your assessment and think about your preparation, progress, and performance. Are you satisfied with the results?

On the following page you will be asked to make corrections to any questions you missed. You will also need to reflect on why you missed them and what you can learn from the mistakes. Be specific and honest in your reflections. The following list includes some common errors. It is not a complete list but gives you some ideas.

I missed this question because:

- a. I didn't read the directions
- b. I misunderstood the directions
 - a. They were not clear
 - b. I didn't read them carefully
- c. I misread the question (example: The question was negative [had no or not in it] and I answered it with a positive response)
- d. I didn't understand the question
 - a. I wasn't sure what information the question was asking for
 - b. I didn't know the material well enough to comprehend it.
- e. I didn't read all the answer choices
- f. I didn't know what each answer meant in order to choose the best response.
- g. I wrote the wrong form of the verb
 - a. I didn't conjugate it
 - b. I missed a step in the conjugation (ex: stem-changing verbs, reflexive verb pronouns, present progressive-forgot "estar", etc.)
 - c. I didn't match it to the subject
 - d. I matched it to the subject, but used the wrong endings (-ar endings for an -er verb)
 - e. I used a different tense (ex: present tense instead of the past tense)
 - f. I didn't use accent marks where needed
- h. My sentence was incomplete. (ex: missing the verb)
- i. I had significant spelling errors in the sentence.
- j. I had mistakes in grammar
 - a. Word order
 - b. Agreement : article-noun, noun- adjective, subject-verb, etc
 - c. I used the wrong word or verb (por vs. para, ser vs. estar, saber vs. conser. Etc)

This is only a partial list. Make your response personal. The purpose is to help you move from thinking, "I got number _ wrong? What's the answer?" to "Why did I miss this question and what can I learn from it so I don't make the same mistakes again?"

Don't forget to flip this around to the positive! Ask yourself, "What did I do correctly so I can keep doing it?" Praise yourself for any progress you have made. Keep striving to improve.
