Lenape Regional High Schools to Host Senior Pinning Ceremonies

Shamong, N.J. – A moving tradition that brings seniors together with their parents and guardians to pledge mutual support for one another, the Lenape Regional High School District will host Senior Pinning ceremonies at each of its four high schools. Presented by each school's Renaissance club, the ceremony marks the start of the seniors' journey into the next phase of their lives after high school. They pledge to continue to honor the trust and faith placed in them by their families. The parents/guardians pledge to uphold the sanctity of family, acceptance of individual responsibility and the need for parents/guardians to be role models. Following the pledges, the parents/guardians pin their child and then the seniors give their parents/guardians a pin as a symbol of love, commitment, pride and dignity.

Members of the media are welcome to attend any of the following LRHSD Senior Pinning ceremonies:
